BETTER BABIES' SHOW IN NANTAO HOWLING SUCCESS

Women Of Christian Institute Launch Project To Improve Child Training

FOND MOTHERS A-PLENTY

First Of Series Of Affairs Planned By Institute Women

What was generally voted to be a howling success was the affair held yesterday at the Nantao Christian Institute, when a Better Babies' Contest was organised for babies under one year. The building was crowded with fond mothers and babies. Charts were hung about the halls telling the mothers how properly to clothe, feed, and care for their babies. There was also an exhibit of baby clothes and baby beds.

The Allenbury Food Company contributed to the show by exhibiting and demonstrating the preparation of Baby Foods. Three doctors from the Margaret Williamson Hospital and six of their well-trained nurses were present to make physical examinations and to give suggestions to the mothers regarding points in which their children needed care. Everybody voted it was a screaming success. Each baby was tagged with a pink ribbon, marked "Better Baby Contest"—a red ribbon being given to the healthiest baby, and honorable mention given to three who each missed by but one point. A picture was also taken of the babies and their proud mothers, a pair of twins gracing the center of the group.

This Better Babies' Contest was the first of a series of affairs planned by the Women's Department of the Nantao Institute with a view to helping mothers throughout the year, by means of clinics and regular meetings for mothers.

The contest is not to choose which is the most healthy baby in the group, but to find out which baby makes the greatest improvement during the year. First, second and third prizes will be offered for the babies who show the greatest improvement at the end of the year, money for the prizes being generously offered by the Allenbury Food Company. All mothers, however, who strive toward this end during the year, will be given a little reward to encourage them in this worth-while cause.

Geddes Advocates World Disarmament

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Chicago, May 19.—Sir Auckland Geddes, in a speech delivered here, advocated a world-wide reduction of armaments. He pleaded for Anglo-American cooperation in the interests of the peace of the world, and also for an international agreement that business men should not be hampered by Government supervision, in order to extricate the world from the economic slough in which it is floundering.

Philadelphia, May 16.—Mr. John Hayes Hammond, in a paper read before the Academy of Political Science, said: "Disarmament at the present status of international relations, unless the other powers agreed to disarm simultaneously, would be the height of folly. Disarmament can be effected by a straightforward unequivocal message from our Government to England and Japan."

(Reuter's Service)

New York, May 20.—The Central Trades and Labor Council, a body representing some 750,000 workers, has adopted a resolution urging the Senate to pass the Borah amendment, authorising the President to invite Great Britain and Japan to discuss a limitation of armaments.

INDIAN ENVOY TO EMPIRE PARLEYS HITS EXCLUSION

Free Trade Should Mean Free Entry, He Tells Interviewer

WANTS NEW STATUS

Advocates Indian Navy, Manned By Natives—Cold To Conference

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 19.—Mr. Sastri, the Indian delegate to the Imperial Conference has arrived here.

In the course of an interview by the Manchester Guardian Mr. Sastri declared he was not particularly optimistic with regard to the Conference. He could not say that round-table discussions on subjects of Imperial interest led to much improvement in India's status in the Empire, which must be raised to equality with the Dominions, as otherwise India could not be expected to discuss seriously problems of Imperial defense and Imperial preference.

Continuing, Mr. Sastri bitterly referred to the exclusion of Indians from Australia and Canada, and declared that South Africa had shown considerable racial prejudice towards Indian settlers. In view of this position, India would definitely oppose Imperial preference.

Freedom of trade also meant freedom to enter another country. As long as this was denied, India would continue to demand Dominion status.

Mr. Sastri strongly favored an Indian Navy manned by Indians and controlled from India. The relationship between the Indian Navy and the Imperial Fleet, Mr. Sastri said, must then be carefully discussed. As an example, he concluded, one could not imagine the Indian Navy, in the event of war, being ordered to protect Australia, which closed its doors to Indians.

EGYPTIANS PROTEST

(Reuter's Service)

Cairo, May 20.—Serious rioting has occurred here in the vicinity of the ministerial offices. It was apparently connected with the attempt by extremists to prevent the official Egyptian delegation, headed by Adly Pasha, leaving for London to negotiate with the British Government in regard to Egyptian self-government.

The demonstrators attacked the mounted police on duty with sticks, stones, bottles filled with sand, and iron tree-guards, with which they maimed 30 of the police horses. Many of the police, who were forbidden to fire, were severely injured. Egyptian Lancers then intervened and quelled the disturbance. One of the rioters was killed and many were injured.

HITS AT LEAGUE

Reminds Hearers That American Electors Repudiated Covenant

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 19.—One of the most brilliant functions in the history of the foremost Anglo-American society in London—the Pilgrims' Club—occurred tonight, when a banquet was given at the Hotel Victoria in honor of the new American Ambassador, Colonel George Harvey. The Duke of Connaught presided and the company included the Duke of York, the Prime Minister, other members of the Cabinet and many distinguished guests.

Replying to the toast of his health which was proposed by the Chairman and supported by the Prime Minister, Colonel Harvey emphasised that his task was to strengthen the existing cordial relations between Great Britain and America, and reiterated that the American Government was under an obligation to respect the decision registered by the American people not to participate in the League of Nations or in any of its committees.

In response to an appeal from Mr. Lloyd George, Colonel Harvey made the dramatic announcement amid a great demonstration that President Harding had authorised him to state that he would be present at the next meeting of the Supreme Council as the representative of the United States.

This announcement marks America's entry into European politics and her participation in the Upper Silesian settlement.

"The President has pledged his unfaltering co-operation with Great Britain in promoting the peace of the world, but in view of the electors' mandate, the present Government could have nothing whatever to do with he League of Nations," said Colonel Harvey.

"I shall fail miserably and to the great disappointment of my President if I fail greatly to strengthen the bonds of mutual frendship and helpfulness between the two great English-speaking nations. I testify of my own knowledge that the King and the President see eye to eye. Our offer of a helping hand is because it is in our own interest as well as in the interests of both.

"The President having put his hand to the plough is not one to turn back. He has declared that the United States must play a full part in promoting world peace," he concluded.

Previously, Mr. Lloyd George in the course of a speech, had laid stress on the fact that upon goodwill, good understanding and cooperation between Great Britain and the United States more than any other fact the future well-being of the world depended. "If this is not the last war, the next will leave Europe in ashes. It is essential for our own safety that we find some means of dragging the nations out of this labyrinth of hatred and degradation," he declared. He welcomed America as a new Power "a great democracy, vigorous, clearheaded and untrammelled by these old quarrels."

Daily Vacation Schools Proposed For Shanghai

BY ELSIE McCORMICK

To help translate the "little red school-house" into Chinese is the guiding purpose of Mr. Robert G. Boville, international director of the Daily Vacation School Movement, who is at present paying a brief visit to Shanghai. Mr. Boville is the originator of a summer educational plan which is now carried out in 2,000 vacation schools throughout the United States, taught by 10,000 college students, and which has had a considerable effect in reducing juvenile delinquency during the summer. Through its agency, boys who spent their vacation shattering windows and the moral code are now happily employed in play, handwork, supplementary study, while college students who spent the long months of rest in yawning and criticising the family grammar find considerably more pleasure in teaching the young idea that a manual training outfit is mightier than the slingshot.

"The vacation school resulted from the coming together of three social atoms—idle churches, idle children, and idle students. Mr. Boville said, "Out of these elements there arose a form of college ministry which combines worship, work and play and which runs through the summer months when the schools are closed. Church property, as a rule unused through July and August, is nearly always made available for such schools so the expense in running them is hardly more than nominal. The program is supplementary to the regular school course, rather than a continuation of it. It includes handiwork, music, hygiene, and organised play, also training in fundamental religious ideas necessary to form a stable moral character."

STARTED IN 1901

The movement originated in 1901, when Mr. Boville was a city missionary in New York. Stirred by the sight of a hundred thousand children turned out for several weeks every summer to play in the dark canyons of New York's business district or the fetid squalor of the East Side, Mr. Boville organised the first vacation school in the great human anthill east of Fifth Avenue.

"This situation called for the opening of all church property for community service on the ground that they were exempt from taxation and therefore owed something to the public," Mr. Boville said. "At this juncture, groups of earnest college students presented themselves and offered their service. Since then the movement has swept over the United States and Canada and is making considerable headway in China, Japan, and France. Everywhere it has gone, it has had churches, church-boards, colleges and working people behind it."

The Vacation School Movement made its first appearance in China in 1917, having blossomed quite independently of the movement at home. It differs considerably from the American phase, for though little John Leary is turned loose on the public for only six weeks every year, little Liu Zung usually has a vacation that lasts all the year round. Instead of being merely supplementary, the program in Chinese vacation schools must deal in fundamentals. In fact, they are "vacation schools" only in the sense that the instructors are young students at home from college for their summer holiday. Their willingness to devote some of their time to volunteer teaching is the slender thread on which hangs the entire education of many a Chinese child. Mr. Boville is so impressed with the possibilities of the movement in China that he has paid three visits here during the last few years in order to offer the encouragement and support of the Vacation School Movement in America.

"What China needs is not universities or airplanes or even an army of a million soldiers," Mr. Boville said. "Her greatest necessity is a [illegible] primary schools. Although 90 percent of the population is illiterate, there is a hopeful element in China's ancient veneration for learning. Nor should the educational strength of China be judged by the public schools, for many parents are making an effort to provide training without government aid or knowledge. In countless back alleys of large cities and on tiny village streets may be heard a murmur of children's voices announcing the existence of a little school."

The students who go out in the summer to pass on some of their learning to children whose knowledge is limited to their own observation are fully rewarded by the gratitude of parents and the eagerness of their pupils. One mother, whose nine-year-old daughter had been a confirmed cigarette smoker, came to the school to see the wonderful teacher who had succeeded in breaking her child of the habit. In one district that was flooded during the summer, the children were so eager to attend school that they climbed over the roofs of the houses every morning in order not to miss a class.

"The future of China's vacation schools depends in large measure on the Students' Union," said Mr. Boville. "In making this movement one of the planks in its platform, the Union has started on a work that will do more to produce a social revolution in China than a hundred strikes or a thousand street processions. Last year 728 students, girls and men, maintained 120 two-month schools scattered through many parts of China. Over 1,500 volunteers have already offered their names for this summer and the Students' Union has sent out a call to its membership of 60,000 asking that as many of them as possible to engage in the work. Thirty schools are to be opened in Shanghai alone, with a teaching force of 150. If the whole student body could be mobilised for this work, China might take a long step toward reaching the place in world affairs to which her ancient civilisation entitles her."

Russians Warn Chief Of Staff This Will Violate Treaty

(Dalta New Agency)

Vladivostok, May 19.—Komura, the Chief of Staff of the Japanese forces in Vladivostok has officially informed Mr. Popoff, the chairman of the Russian delegation of the Russo-Japanese Conciliatory Committee, that within a month from now, Japanese military units will make a military expedition through the following regions of the Maritime Province: Colon from Nikolsk, Ussuriysk to Kamen-Rybolov, also to Western bank of Hanka Lake.

Secondly along both sides of Ussuri Railway Section between Pokrashino and Iman stations. Mr. Popoff replied to this note to the effect that the Russian authorities regard such an expedition as a crying violation of the Russo-Japanese agreement.

It has been learned, on authentic authority, that in view of the strong opinion prevailing in Japan in favor of the evacuation of the Japanese Troops from the Maritime Province, and the fact that the Japanese Foreign Department has adopted the same attitude, that the Japanese Military Party is trying to make use of a last remedy, notably the organisation of an anti-government movement in the Maritime Province. All preliminary work for the starting of disturbances here has been completed, all Russian reactionary groups, including the houseowners, have been invited to participate in overthrowing the local government. The Japanese headquarters are busy at working out a detailed plan of offensive throughout the whole Maritime Province. Ataman Semenoff has been invited by the Japanese to take charge of the coming military action. He is reported as having left Port Arthur for Vladivostok. Local Japanese Military circles state definitely that the Japanese Military Party will never consent to evacuation of the Russian Far East despite the wish of the whole country even if threatened with internal troubles in Japan. The Military Party will stand all risks, but will never leave the Maritime Province voluntarily.

M. TARDIEU SEES DANGER IN BRITISH 'ILLUSIONS'

Mistaken About 'French Capacity For Yielding,' He Says

PACT VIOLATED

Allied Leaders To Hold New 'Get Together' Conference

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 19.—In the Chamber of Deputies today an important debate on foreign policy was begun by M. Tardieu who, interpellating the Government, charged it with failing to defend France's interests in the Allied negotiations. He particularly criticised the inadequacy of the total reparations claims, whereby France is the loser owing to her desire to respect Great Britain's insistence on the observance of the Paris Agreement.

M. Tardieu was applauded when he declared that the spirit of the Versailles Treaty was being violated. He recalled derisively the Premier's assurance that a strong hand would seize Germany's neck if twelve thousand million francs were not forthcoming by May 1. Instead of this, the Government had been content with a German promise.

M. Tardieu declared that the British and French could not dispense with each other either in wartime or in peace. He said that a policy of successive concessions had given rise in Great Britain to perilous illusions regarding the French capacity for always yielding.

The debate was adjourned.

London, May 19.—Reuter's Agency learns that Italy has intimated her willingness to send the Italian Foreign Minister, Count Sforza, immediately, to attend the forthcoming meeting of the Supreme Council. France has also agreed to the meeting, but is unable to fix a date at present, owing to the uncertainty regarding the duration of the debate in the French Chamber which begins today.

FRENCH INVITED

Paris, May 19.—The British Charge d'Affaires last evening formally requested the French Government to be represented at the meeting of the Supreme Council, to which America, Italy and Japan were also invited.

M. Briand reserved his definite acceptance until the conclusion of today's debate in the Chamber.

Berlin, May 19.—The Inter-Allied Military Control Commission in a note demands that Germany immediately take measures to prevent the recruiting of volunteers for Silesia and to disband the detachment already formed.

American Woman's Club Notes

The grotesque little figures that sit on the roof to keep the feng shui away, the stone screen that guards the house from the entry of evil spirits, and the stone lions that do duty before the door were described by Miss Lelia Tuttle yesterday in a talk on "Chinese Homes and Gardens," given before the American Woman's Club Literary Department in the Royal Asiatic Society Hall. Miss Tuttle gleaned much of her material from actual visits to Chinese houses and her talk threw many interesting sidelights on the ideas that influence Chinese architecture.

"I have traveled about rather extensively, yet I do not remember ever having seen an ugly village or village," Miss Tuttle said. "There are wretched shelters patched and held together by flattened Standard Oil tins on the outskirts of cities where refugees from famine and plague haunted districts lodge, but these are not really homes. The Chinese either choose a beautiful location or else transform the scene after their houses are built by clumps of trees, bamboos, or shrubs. The country resident always selects a site near water if possible, and in the well-watered section, all the villages are on canals. This is of course a practical measure, but there is reason for thinking that even the common people enjoy the beauty of the flowing water, the dipping of the willow-boughs, the swaying of the reeds, and the reflection of the low roofs and white walls."

Before a building site is decided upon it is first necessary for the wind-and-water seer to make sure that the place is in harmony with these important elements. Then, when the building is under construction, the owner must see to it that branches are tied to the tops of high poles, so that the spirits living in the trees may not become jealous of a building that is to be higher than they. There is also the ceremony of burning incense and pouring libations of wine when the roof-tree is placed, besides the more elaborate family rite which takes place later at the installing of the kitchen god.

Wood for framework and brick covered with cement for walls are the usual materials for construction. The rafters and pillars are often of precious woods, sometimes enriched by carvings, inlaid ivory, brass, or mother-of-pearl. The curling eaves, which were common from the sixth century onward, are probably of foreign origin, as China offers no explanation for the development of the style. Touches of Buddhistic tradition are indicated by the stone screens before the gate and small figures on the roof, both of which are supposed to serve as a protection from evil spirits.

In a typical Chinese home of the better class, each apartment has its own court, at the farther end of which is usually a pond with framed in bamboo trees, shrubs, and artificial rocks. The large hall of the house, which is usually about twenty-four feet wide and twenty feet long, is open on the court save for a bamboo or reed screen which can be let down to protect from rain or sun. The walls are hung with scrolls, paintings and tablets and the far side of the room is entirely composed of folding doors, two-thirds of which are of lattice work covered with painted gauze to admit light to the bedrooms beyond.

The furniture is usually fashioned of rosewood, ebony, or bamboo, ornamented by choice pieces of marble suggesting in their outline bits of natural scenery. Bedsteads are sometimes masterpieces of rosewood carvings half hidden by rich draperies and scrolls of poetry.

"There are three species of scenes found in gardens—pleasing, horrifying, and enchanted or romantic," Miss Tuttle said in taking up the second phase of her subject. "In the first named, they use artifices to excite surprises. Sometimes they cause a turbulent stream to pass underground, the noise of which strikes on the ear of a newcomer, who is at a loss to know from wence it comes. Sometimes they place rocks, pavilions, and small buildings in such a way that the wind passing through their cavities makes weird sounds.

"In the scenes of horror there are impending rocks, dark caverns, and impetuous cataracts rushing down from all sides. Trees are ill-formed, seemingly torn to pieces by violent tempests; some have fallen across streams; others look as if struck by lightning. There are buildings which appear to have fallen into ruins and also miserable huts intending to show the wretchedness of the inhabitants. These scenes are usually followed by others more pleasing, for Chinese artists knowing how powerfully contrast operates on the mind, constantly practice sudden transitions and striking opposition of form, color, and shades.

"In an effort to suggest size by artificially creating perspective, they give a grayish tinge to distant parts of the composition and plant trees of lighter color and smaller growth than those in the foreground."

The speaker described briefly the art of making artificial rocks and the use of water as a decorative factor in landscape gardening, illustrating her talk by views of pretentious homes. On Monday afternoon, a group of Literary Department members will visit a large Chinese house in this city.

The last meeting of the department for the present club year will take place on June 3, when Mrs. J. H. Gray is to speak on "Wood Carvings" and Mrs. Clare C. Gamble on "Ivory Carvings." Owing to the piano recital at the Shanghai American School on that date, the hour of meeting will be advanced to four o'clock.

The program committee, which is outlining plans for next year, is scheduled to meet next Thursday morning at ten o'clock.

The Waring Company

In their repeat performance of "The Witness for the Defence" the above company stood their trial before a keenly interested audience, and the general verdict was that they left the court without a stain on the character of their acting. A right verdict too, for it is a drama which could easily be spoilt by a less artistic handling. Slovenly elocution, or excessive sentimentality would kill a play of this description, and it is not often that a traveling company is able to put on such an even cast, a cast which can work so well together and is so entirely adequate.

The various members of the company are so well known to the Shanghai public that no particularisation is called for. The fact that A. E. W. Mason wrote the play vouches for its human interest, and the fact that "Waring's" act it is a guarantee that it was well interpreted.

This afternoon a Matinee performance of Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" is being given, commencing at 4 p.m. Miss Edith Smith plays Kate Hardcastle most charmingly as we have already seen, and it is a merry comedy to which boys and girls may be taken by their parents. In the evening that splendid play "Don" is billed. Mr. Charles Quartermaine created the original part of "Don" at the Haymarket Theater, London, bringing himself into the forefront of English actors thereby.

His performance this evening at the Lyceum is being eagerly looked forward to.

BACKACHE, HEADACHE AND OTHER ACHES SIMPLY MEAN IMPURITIES IN BLOOD

Otherwise you couldn't have such troubles, says a medical man. Purify the blood by drinking a good home-made medicinal water and see how quickly they go. The following simple inexpensive compound will give you the essential constituents of famous natural curative medicinal spring waters, as exactly ascertained by analysis.

The best way to purify the blood quickly is by thoroughly flushing out the kidneys, liver and intestinal tract. Merely taking pills to stimulate or even irritate the liver to temporary convulsive action will not do. You must thoroughly flush out and cleanse all the filtering and eliminative organs. This will stop any absorption of poisons into the blood. Now, as regards the poisons already in the blood, there is one sure way to get at them. Simply drink an abundance of alkaline mineral water—two or three tumblerfuls a day being none too many. This, if it is very strongly alkaline, will quickly be absorbed into the blood, since that, of course, is the only way it can reach the kidneys. While in the blood the alkaline water dissolves and neutralises any uric acid or other impurities with which it comes in contact. Then it will be filtered out and expelled by the kidneys, taking with it all the impurities it has absorbed while in the blood. The effect of this process will be to relieve pain and impart strength and tone to the whole system, which has thus been flushed clear of painful, nerve-depressing and kidney-clogging impurities. The astonishing benefits are usually noticeable within a day or two. To prepare the alkaline mineral water, merely dissolve in a tumblerful of plain hot water a level teaspoonful of the refined compound known by the registered name of Alkia Saltrates, and which any chemist can supply at small cost.

NOTE.—We are informed that Messrs. A. S. Watson & Co. of 16 Nanking Road, Shanghai, stock a specially high grade of Alkia Saltrates and are in a position to supply this remarkable compound at very low cost.

PAPERS FRIENDLY

London, May 19.—With the exception of the Morning Post, which compares Mr. Lloyd George to a coster "cocoanut shying" at Hampstead Heath, and declares that he is throwing balls of rhetoric at the heads of France and Poland, the newspapers applaud the opportuneness and candor of the Prime Minister's statement made yesterday in the course of an interview with Reuter's representative.

They have not lost sight of the fact that France has much reason to be suspicious of anything smacking of pro-German sympathy but the papers argue that the Prime Minister does not entertain such feelings nor antipathy towards Poland. On the contrary, they assert, he seeks in a far-sighted manner to safeguard the future of the whole of Europe, ignoring immediate "interests" in favor of the principles of justice which are more likely to serve the world in the future.

Liberal organs, particularly welcome the statement as marking the departure of war-breeding diplomatic intrigues through the substitution of a healthier frankness and publicity, which, they hope, will have the effect of righting a situation which has threatened to become the most critical since 1914.

INTERNATIONAL PORT AT TSINGTAO JAPAN'S AIM NOW

Fear Single Settlement Would Cause Other Powers To Interfere

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, May 16.—The establishment of an international port at Tsingtao is contemplated by Japan as soon as she can induce the Chinese Government to undertake negotiations for the relinquishment of Japanese control of the entire province of Shantung. It is explained in Japanese quarters here that the internationalisation of the port was insisted upon by Japan because the maintenance of a Japanese settlement at Tsingtao might invite demands from other maritime powers for similar concessions which it was believed was impossible because Tsingtao was too small. The Japanese propose to settle the question of the control of the mixed settlement by inviting the Chinese Government to establish gendarmerie of sufficient strength to ensure their ability to keep off the bandits who are swarming in Shantung.

Note: The foregoing U.S. Navy radio message was received in Peking on May 17 but was not picked up in Shanghai. On May 18, Reuter's Peking correspondent telegraphed to Shanghai the official information that Mr. Obata, the Japanese Minister to China, prior to his departure for Japan at the beginning of May, had "remarked to the Chinese Government that Japan intended making representations to the powers concerning the internationalisation of Tsingtao, and that if the powers concurred, Japan would make a definite proposal to China to that effect." Reuter's correspondent added that the Chinese Government had heard nothing of the matter since.

In this connection, Mr. Obata's statement to a representative of the Osaka Mainichi on landing at Moji on May 13, is of special interest:

"Referring to the Shantung question, the Minister said that, as declared by the Japanese Foreign Office some time ago, Japan is ready to negotiate with the Chinese Government for the settlement of the problem at any time, if that Government so desires. China, however, is still undecided, and the matter is in abeyance. The reason why China hesitates to open negotiations with Japan is, in Mr. Obata's opinion, that she is apprehensive of very severe conditions being formulated by Japan for the settlement of the problem. The question will be easily solved if Japan draws up a very fair proposal and presents it to the Peking Government with the previous approval of the powers. It admits of no doubt that China will endorse such a course, if it is adopted by the Japanese Government."

RECORD LIST ENTERED IN OLYMPICS

Nearly 400 Are Expected When China Teams Are Made Known

FILIPINOS SAIL

Islands Sending 139 Men Here; Japan Enters 104 In Opens

One hundred and tirty nine Filipinos and 122 Japanese, both record totals, have been entered for the Far Eastern championship games which begin here a week from Monday and it is expected that upwards of 130 Chinese entrants will be announced tonight. Entries close today and the Chinese teams will be announced after the selection committee confers following the meet at Fuhtan University this afternoon.

Both the Japanese and Chinese are going in strong for the open internationals, too. The Japanese are entering 104 men in the opens, with entrants in track, track, swimming, tennis, basketball, football and baseball. The Filipinos will go in the open baseball, football, track and tennis, it is expected athough they have not officially entered tennis and football men. It is believed that this is an oversight on the part of the Philippine authorities.

Notable among the Filipino entrants in the track is Fortunato P. Catalon, who has been clocked in evens for the hundred a dozen times. He is also credited with making the dash in 9 4/5 seconds.

Eight Japanese are entered in the 25-mile marathon.

SAM CASSIA IS WINNER OF MILE; THIRD IN SPRINT

Harriers Club Events Attracts Good Entry List; Dash Taken By Marshall

RENEMAN AND ROSE GOOD

Two Stars Finish Strong In Longer Race At Hongkew; Lawrie Smith Not In

Winning the mile from the 50-yard mark and taking third place in the 100-yard dash with a three-yard handicap, Sam Cassia contributed the outstanding performances at the Harriers Club events yesterday afternoon at the Hongkew Park. G. A. Marshall took the sprint from scratch, getting away nicely and pulling through to an impressive win in 10 4/5 seconds. He won his heat in 11 seconds. Johannson, four yards, was second in the dash. Reneman, running scratch man, was second in the mile with Rose getting third. Rose had a ten yard handicap. Lawrie Smith did not run. The time for the mile was 5:01 4/5.

Cassia and A. M. Gutierrez ran a dead heat in the first trial heat of the 100, Marshall took the second with Suzgar and Henry Waters racing a dead heat for second place and Johannson won the third heat in which Caldwell finished second. All three heats were run in 11 seconds.

The mile was a beautiful race to watch. Reneman had 21 runners strung out ahead of him for various distances up to 100 yards when the gun went and the big pack was too much for the scratch man. Lewis Rice, Moffett, Dietrich and the other limit men made the running for the first quarter but Seredkin, starting from the 60-yard point, asserted himself at the halfway mark. Here Cassia stepped out and stayed in front to the tape

Reneman did not come through until the last lap and did not have the power to catch Cassia. Reneman showed his old-time form, however, and made a game effort to beat the ultimate winner.

Rose was not heard from until the last lap was fairly well under way and then he uncorked a sprint which would have given him a victory had he spent some of the effort in three laps instead of one. Rose poorly judged his race and although he ran from the ten yard mark with Wilson, should have done better, in the opinion of many.

Tajima, who won the Public School mile run a week ago, finished sixth in yesterday's race.

The mile summary:

Won by Cassia (50 yards); Reneman (scratch) second; Rose (10 yards) third. Time—5:01 4/5. Hutchinson (60 yards) was fourth; Waters (30 yards) fifth, and Tajima (30 yards) was sixth.

Much of the success of yesterday's events is due to Tom McKenna, Principal W. W. Bartlett of the American School and C. C. Reneman, who gave out the handicaps. The officials were Referee—C. D. Giauque; starter—Professor Burgess; Messrs. Drake, Hooper, Ellis, Woodfield, Bridges and Goodhind. Messrs. Alves and Hyndman were the timers.

Entertain Sailors At Picnic Today; Over 400 Expected

Approximately four hundred sailors will be entertained by the American Woman's Club this afternoon at a picnic which will take place in Hongkew Park between 3:00 and 7:00 p.m. Each hostess will provide supper for five sailors. The Navy Y.M.C.A. will be responsible for a large share of the program, a push-ball contest and field meet being two of its items. In case of unfavorable weather this afternoon, the picnic will take the form of an indoor frolic in the Carlton Cafe.

Those providing suppers may send them to the baseball grandstand, where a committee will take them in charge. They should arrive before three o'clock if possible. Coffee will be furnished, though hostesses are asked to provide sugar and canned cream. Members of the Women's Overseas League are requested to help in entertaining the men. They are asked to bring their own picnic suppers.

The committee in charge announces that cups will be furnished at the grounds, but that hostesses should bring spoons, forks, and other table artillery.

NEARLY 200 SIGN ENTRY LIST FOR INTERSCHOLASTIC

Close Competitions Indicated For Coming Track And Field Meet

Nearly two hundred School boys have already handed in their names for the Interscholastic track and field meet and it is expected that there will be close competition in many of the events. The boys have been training now for several weeks and are in good shape for the occasion.

The Schools entered are the American, Cathedral, French Municipal, Public, and Thomas Hanbury. The School winning the competition will be awarded the beautiful Pearce-Merriman shield. Ribbons will be awarded to those winning first, second, third, fourth and fifth places.

About forty officials have been secured and in order that the events may be run off smoothly and according to the constitution of the Interscholastic Athletic Association, they are being instructed in the rules of the different events by the Referee, Mr. C. D. Giauque.

All of the Far Eastern Championship athletes will be here at the time of the meeting, and no doubt many of these will attend in order to see what sort of athletes Shanghai has in her Schools. It is expected that some of the best men in the Schools will enter the open championships the following week. Caccia and Siemsen of the Public School, Waters of the American School and Guadar of the Thomas Hanbury School are likely candidates for the bigger meeting.

Because of the Empire Day falling on the 24th, the heats have been postponed until the following day. The finals will be held on Saturday, the 28th. Both events will be at the Hongkew Recreation Ground, starting on Wednesday at 2:30 and on Saturday at 1:30.

At the close on Saturday the Pearce-Merriman shield will be presented to the winning team, while the Oxford and Cambridge Society's shield will also be presented. This shield is for the Association's annual cross-country run which was recently won by the Public School, who will therefore have the honor of holding this shield for the first year.

Hongkong Cricketers Here; Shanghai Candidates Start Final Practice Match Today

Appointees To Local Interport Eleven Still In Doubt; Many Players Are Trying But Early Season Renders Selections Difficult

With the big interport game of cricket drawing near, with the Hongkong invading team already in port and primed for play after a hard workout of early Southern season spring, the candidates for the Shanghai eleven begin today their last match of practice.

A team of "Probables" will oppose another of "Possibles" with play beginning at 1:30 o'clock today, and at 12:30 tomorrow. It is the match that will give the committee on selection their last opportunity to observe the form of the players. It is expected that Sunday night will see the Shanghai 1921 interport defenders selected.

Hongkong, fresh from a good season of hard play had a comparatively easy job at selecting their men, but the local sportsmen have had little time at this, the beginning of our later season at working into form. There are a few men, such as Barrett, Ollerdessen, O'Hara who are virtually sure to be included in the Blazer Elect, but with 1921 form not yet fully shown by the numerous other candidates many places on the eleven are yet in doubt.

Capt. E. I. M. Barrett, Shanghai Cricket club, captain of the team, is considered as a certainty. His general all-round proficiency is too well known to require any comment on his playing.

Harry Ollerdessen, of the Shanghai Recreation Club, also is ranked with the certainties. He has been forced out of practice of late because of a split hand sustained in last week's workout, but he will be in condition to go in the game next week. He ranks as one of Shanghai's best batsmen, and is an excellent outfielder.

Jimmy Quayle, of the Police Cricket Club, has shown considerable class this spring and very likely will qualify. He is a fast right-hand bowler, a good hitter, and slip.

Dr. O'Hara, of the S.C.C., is the best left-hand bowler seen in Shanghai for many years. He is also a good bat and excellent at point or slip.

A. W. Hayward, of the S.C.C., is the most stylish bat in the Settlement. His is a bit nervous at starting but has all the strokes and has made centuries frequently. He scores mostly behind the wicket.

W. N. Hansell, of the S.C.C., is a good all rounder. He is a right-hander. He bowled splendidly last week-end, turning his ball quite a bit from the leg. He is a useful man at bat and a good fielder.

S. J. Deeks, S.C.C., is a sound wicket keeper, and a reliable bat. He is of the stonewall type—the hardest man to "dig out" that local cricketers know of. Essential in an important match as he breaks up the bowling and apart from his own runs makes it possible for others to score after him. Deeks has served the S.C.C. as keeper for 10 years, taken all the hard knocks and has well

SWIMMING BEGINS

The swimming season was opened Thursday night at the Municipal Bath by the Police Recreation Club, a good sized crowd of swimmers taking to the tank. There were several unofficial contests in the nature of try-outs and there were indications that there will be plenty of good material when the season gets well under way. There are to be practice swims and matches every Thursday night during the summer.

First Official Lawn Bowls Match Today

(BY THE SHOT)

Lawn bowlers may look forward to excellent greens should the sun continue his good behavior over the week end. The first official match of the season will be played on the Recs ground today when the Junior Golf Club will pay them a visit.

Looking over the teams I can't help thinking that the Juniors have a tough proposition before them, as a matter of fact, the young blood in the Recs have made so much progress that I feel sure they will come out of the series with a winning average. Most of their old players are with them, a notable exception being the debonair Harry Veitch, without doubt their crack player. However, Sam Wallace is back again and with players like T. Poignand, C. Thompson, H. Landers coming on like wildfire, they need be afraid no other club.

The Junior Golf Club have lost one or two excellent players but still retain their cracks. A formal opening of the green will take place on Sunday with a match between the Captain and Secretary's teams. Visitors are cordially invited.

The Shanghai Lawn Bowls Club will be as powerful as ever notwithstanding the loss of "Pa" Gaines and Jummy Disselduff.

J. Sheridan is back with them and with H. Manwaring as secretary they may look forward to a good season. Today, the game on the card is one between the Committee and the rest of the club and I understand the latter are out to prove that though the Committee

LOCAL SHOTS COMPETE WITH LONDON CLUB

Shanghai Rifle Association Begin Match At Range Today

The City Rifle Club of London, the best shots of the British metropolis, will compete with picked men of the Shanghai Rifle Association today. The match starts at 7 a.m. at the Rifle Range, and constitutes part of the annual general meeting of the association, which will conclude with an all-day program tomorrow.

Ten men will shoot on each side. The conditions governing the shoot are:

Rifles and ammunition—Any Government viewed.

Shots—One sighter and seven scoring at each distance.

Practice—No practice on the day of the match and the first shot of the day will count for the match.

It is announced that the London team will shoot with the L. E. long and the S.M.L.E. short rifles and Mark VII ammunition. Mrs. John J. Stewart, captain of the City Rifle Club kindly has offered to present to each winning member of the Shanghai team one of the City Club's silver spoons.

Tomorrow's competition begins at 7 a.m. Three events are scheduled. In the morning, there will be the 800 and 900 yards for Event No. 6 and the 1,000 yards for Event No. 7, both of which are deliberate firing competitions.

In the afternoon, The "Ladies" prize competition will take place. The range will be 200, 500 and 600 yards to count for aggregate and championship.

UNION CHURCH OUTING

Pupils of the Union Church Sunday School, with their parents and friends, will be guests at a picnic to be held today in Jessfield Park. Motor lorries will leave from the Union Church at 1:30 p.m. A program of games and sports has been arranged by Mr. A. G. Toone, chairman of the picnic committee. NEW ORLEANS TO PLAY SHANGHAI THIS AFTERNOON

Cruiser Nine Is Attraction At Race Course Today; Huron Tomorrow

RECRUIT MOUNDMEN WORK

Gallop, Denniston And Devine To Pitch Today With Roeser Catching

Denniston, Devine and Herby Gallop will be seen in action this afternoon against the U.S.S. New Orleans and Roeser will be behind the bat. Captain Cy Wilhoit of the Shanghai baseballers wants to see how the new men will act under fire and the fans are in the same boat.

Today's game will start promptly at three o'clock if the rain holds off and while this is being written the moon is hiding its face and there is a sprinkle now and then.

The game against the New Orleans nine this afternoon will be the last before the five-game series starts against the U.S.S. Huron.

Shanghai had a good stiff practice yesterday afternoon and the infield looks very pretty indeed. No pitchers were out and Brad Crow was busy getting ready to receive that greyhound of the Pacific, the Ecuador, but Wilhoit, Ladd, Bills and Maloney, who will probably combine to make the best infield ever seen here, went through a strenuous and speedy 20 minutes of "get one, get two," etc.

Mal Maloney bothered the outfield with his long high flies. Sperry claims that Maloney sneaks them into the cloud banks and Sperry thus alibis a bad finger. Wilhoit will start Smith, Hopkins and Crow in the outfield this afternoon with Stovall, Sperry and half a dozen others as relief artists.

Slim Hanna is planning to organise a second team to keep the regulars in trim. With four pitchers and four catchers, two good teams are possible. Terry, Devine, Denniston and Gallop are the hurlers while Giauque, Hoag, Smith and Roeser can do the Lou Criger act.

Another reminder is slipped to the fans as per request of Woodrow Willson, Esq., seagoing secretary. Today is the last day of free admissions to the grandstand. Tomorrow will bring demands to "show your ticket or sign a chit."

Three o'clock today.

Australians In Easy Victory Over Essex Team

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 19.—Lovely weather attended the resumption today of the Australians' match with Essex at Leyton. The wicket was good and about 8,000 spectators turned out.

The Australians, who had scored 222 runs for six wickets overnight, brought their total for the first innings up to 318, Andrews contributing 60 and Hendry 56—not out.

In their second innings, the Essex eleven scored only 99 runs, of which 47 were made by Douglas—not out. Gregory took five wickets for 43.

The Australians thus won by an innings and 75 runs.

In the County Championships, Oxford beat Somerset today by six wickets.

The Yangtszepoo Club have an easy week end in which all members are requested to put in some good practice in order to make up for the loss of "Geordie" and "Fraser." We shall certainly miss Messrs. Each had a distinct personality and only those who have played with or against them are able to realise their value to Lawn Bowls in Shanghai. May they have a jolly good time at home, say I. H'kong Cricket Team Reaches City earned his place on this year's team. He missed his chance at the Interport blazer last year against Hongkong through a cricket injury.

D. W. Leach, S.C.C., is a promising all-round player. He bats well, though inclined to pick out the wrong ball to hit at times. He is a dangerous right-hand, medium-pace bowler, was selected for his bowling to play for the North of England Public schools against the South two or three years ago.

H. W. Allison, S.C.C., is a fast, medium, right-hand bowler, round the wicket, with a dangerous ball that comes back, swerves considerably, particularly with a new ball, much improved bat, and a grand all-round worker.

F. L. Wainwright, S.C.C., and P.C.C., is a good bowler, deadly at times, but uncertain in control, liable to get good wickets with bad balls any old time. Also a prolific run getter when he gets set. Made big scores last season. Fast and accurate in the field.

Willie Clifford, S.C.C., fine all around player, sound bat, splendid field in any position and useful slow, right-hand bowler. Deserves inclusion in the interport eleven.

R. J. Tippin, S.C.C., has been doing well as a fast right-hand bowler. He is sure to represent Shanghai very soon, but is lacking as yet in experience.

W. H. Moule, S.C.C., is again practising. He has made more centuries than any other player on local grounds, is the most finished bat Shanghai has ever had, and is "ever-green," though has been breaking the hearts of local trundlers for upwards of 20 years.

H. E. Muriel, S.C.C., is a fairly sound bat and has bucked up in his fielding of late.

V. H. Lanning, S.C.C., was once the most deadly right-hand bowler in the Settlement. He is still good, but cannot regain all of his old-time sting unless wicket assists him, a fine bat and splendid slip.

A. S. Lanning, S.C.C., a steady bat with a big past reputation. Has not played regularly of late years but can still garner in the runs. Has plenty of interport experience. A good field.

C. Brooks is a new keeper. G. M. Billings is an old-time bowler. Read is a good all arounder, C. H. Bhoora of the Parsee C.C., is useful in all departments. R. F. Shroff, also of the Parsee C.C., is a fine right-hand swerve bowler, and J. Isaacs of the Police C.C., is a left-hand bowler, with one particularly dangerous "swerve" ball.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

The China Mutual Life Insurance Co., Ltd.

The twenty-third annual meeting of the China Mutual Life Insurance Company, Limited, was held at its offices yesterday afternoon with Mr. A. W. Burkill, chairman of the board of directors presiding and Directors C. R. Burkill, R. Macgregor, A. E. Algar, R. G. Macdonald and A. J. Welch supporting. Managers S. B. Neill and J. K. Tweed and shareholders representing 4,630 shares were in attendance.

The chairman in his speech said:

"Gentlemen: Before proceeding to deal with the accounts, I must refer to the great loss which your board and the company sustained through the death of Mr. G. M. Wheelock, who for many years occupied a seat on the board, whose advice was always most valuable to us, and who took a very great interest in the progress of the company. By his death we not only lost a valued colleague, but most of us lost a very close personal friend.

"The accounts have been published for some days and, as I have a number of important matters to deal with, I will not weary you by reading a number of figures from the report and accounts. It is with pleasure, however, that I draw your attention to the continued satisfactory inflow of new business and to the increase in life premium income, in the income from interest, and in the total assets of the company.

RUPEE FLUCTUATIONS

"When I addressed you last year it was considered necessary to refer to the effect upon the company of the failure of the government of India to maintain the Rupee at 1s. 4d., it having, during the year 1919, reached the figure of well over 2s. to the Rupee. I am very glad to inform you that during the year 1920, and during the early part of this year, we have made arrangements for the covering of the whole of our liability in Rupees by investments in Rupees, and that the fluctuation in the value of the Rupee no longer causes your directors any anxiety whatever.

"My predecessors have endeavored to make it clear to you on previous occasions that the fluctuation in the sterling value of the Tael does not affect our position, because our Gold liabilities and assets are kept separate from our Silver liabilities and assets; the only effect of the variation of the value of the Tael is on our expenses. Our head office is in Shanghai, and the head office expenses being payable in Silver, the smaller the sterling value of the Tael, the better for the company, because it means that a smaller charge is made on our Gold income to meet the proportion of our head office expenses properly chargeable to Gold income.

CAUSES FOR DEATHS

"At the last two annual meetings it has been necessary for the chairman to refer to deaths due to influenza, and last year I informed you that no less than one-quarter of our claims under Gold policies and 17 percent of our claims under Silver policies were due to this cause. More recently it has been the custom to report the cause of death as 'pneumonia' where previously the cause of death would have been given as 'influenza.' Taking this into consideration, I am satisfied that the claims this year due to influenza are at least as great as they were last year. These deaths occurred principally in China, India, and Japan. We hope that the force of this epidemic has now spent itself, and that we shall soon see a reduction in the amount appearing under the heading 'claims under policies, paid and outstanding, by death.'

"I now call your attention to the figures of the fire department. This department commenced issuing policies in the middle of last year. For some time our operations in this department were confined to Shanghai, and were gradually extended to other agencies in China including Hankow and at a later date Peking and still later, Tientsin and Hongkong and also to Manila, but it was not until towards the end of the year that the last three named agencies commenced writing policies.

"Our agencies in Burma, India, Ceylon, Straits Settlements, Java, Bangkok and Saigon, and not at the end of 1920 commenced writing fire policies, principally because the agreement made with the Shanghai Life Insurance Company to which I shall refer claimed a very considerable amount of attention on the part of our representatives, and as our life business is our principal business, we did not wish our fire department to interfere with the full development of the life department, and with their assuming the responsibilities entailed by the agreement with the Shanghai Life Insurance Company. The figures, however, for the period ending Dec. 31, 1920 are, we consider, very satisfactory, and we hope that you will also consider them very satisfactory.

"It will be evident to you that we are retaining only small lines on each risk, the excess lines being re-insured with companies of the highest standing. You will also see by the profit on the commission and expenses account, that the business is being worked on a satisfactory basis. We not only receive our premiums net, but we receive a further sum to the credit of our fire insurance fund as profit on the cost of running the department. We are not only able to carry to reserve 60 percent of the premiums received, but to add to that reserve from the miscellaneous sources of income.

POLICY CONSERVATIVE

"We propose to continue following this conservative policy for the next few years, until we have built up a fire insurance fund which will enable us with absolute safety to increase the lines we retain on each risk. As I said to you at our last meeting, it is our intention in developing our fire department to make the fullest use of our existing organisation, but we do not propose to spend money on increasing our organisation, in order to increase our fire income.

"You will, I am sure, be glad to hear that the huge conflagration which recently took place in the North Soochow Road, Shanghai, has not caused your directors to feel at all anxious in any way regarding the future of the department, or to feel at all anxious regarding the results for the year 1921.

"I must now refer to the agreement made with the Shanghai Life Insurance Company, the agreement which was signed in July of last year, to take effect as from August 1 of last year. This agreement was the final outcome of conversations which had taken place between the officials of the two companies as long ago as the summer of 1919.

"The position was that there were two companies each having head offices in Shanghai, under two separate managements, and each with agency organisations in the same parts of the world, except that the Shanghai Life Insurance Company had no agencies in Japan, Indo-China, or India, but in every other part of the Far East there was a China Mutual office and a Shanghai Life Office. It was obviously desirable that some means should be found by which the head office and agency work of the two companies should be carried on by one organisation, with the consequent decrease in the combined overhead and agency charges, and the result of many conferences was the signing of the agreement by which this company undertook the management of the affairs of the Shanghai Life Insurance Company in consideration of certain payments.

MERGER ADVANTAGEOUS

"The two companies will continue their separate existence in that they will have distinct boards of directors, different auditors, and will publish separate accounts, their assets being kept entirely distinct. The same officials, however, will administer the affairs of both companies, and the two companies will occupy the same offices. Everyone will appreciate, I think, the necessity for negotiations regarding an agreement of this kind being kept secret until they were completed, because rumors that such negotiations were taking place would undoubtedly have been used to the prejudice of one or other of the companies. Consequently the signing of the agreement necessarily found both companies with a complete organisation, and a complete system of offices in Shanghai and in the agencies, and it naturally took some time before the necessary changes in staff and removal of offices could be completed, by which only the desired reduction in expenses could be effected.

"Consequently the accounts before you now and the accounts which have a few minutes ago been considered by the shareholders of the Shanghai Life Insurance Company, do not show the effect of the agreement. We believe, however, that the results for the present year will fully demonstrate to you the advantages of the arrangements which have been made. We are very glad to inform you that the necessary changes have all been made. The staffs of both companies are now housed in the same offices, both in Shanghai and in all the agencies, one agency manager and/or resident secretary represents both companies in each agency. The agreement has been the means of our adding several very valuable men to our agency organisation.

JAPAN AGENCY CLOSED

"I should inform those of you who have not already heard it, that we have closed down our agency in Japan, as far as the acquisition of new business is concerned. In deciding to take this step, your directors were influenced by a number of considerations, all of which I am unable to place before you at a public meeting. The reasons however, which I can give you are sufficient. We had an excellent organisation in Japan, which was doing extremely well, but ever since the commencement of the War, the cost of living continued to increase so rapidly that the ratio of expense of running the agency did not show that decrease with the increase in the premium income which was essential if the agency was to be continued.

"In no other place in the East has the expense of living increased to the same extent. In addition to that, our experience has been that the Japanese are more affected by epidemics than are other Asiatic peoples. They for instance, were apparently much more affected by influenza than were the Chinese, Filipinos, Siamese, Malays, or the natives of India or Burma.

"These reasons, I think you will agree, were sufficient to justify the closing of the Japanese agency, in spite of the fact that we had a large and increasing amount of business in force there. The policies in force will, of course, be carefully cared for, and the necessary arrangements to that end have been made.

"I may say that the wisdom of our decision was confirmed by a notification which we received some little while after we had decided to discontinue writing business in Japan. Some months before, as is necessary under the Japanese laws, we notified the Japanese government that we wished to increase our rates of premiums in order to conform without experience as to mortality and expenses. After some months, and after we had decided to discontinue the writing of new business, we received a notification from the Japanese government that they did not approve of the rates of premiums we wished to charge, but they would agree to our charging the new "non-profit" rates for "with-profit" policies. I have dealt with this question at some length, but it has been done in the belief that our experience may be of interest to other British Insurance Companies, and possibly to insurance companies other than British.

ACTUARIAL VALUATIONS

"I now wish to deal with the results of the annual actuarial valuation as at December 31, 1920. During last year, the deed of settlement was, as you know, amended, one of the principal changes being to give the directors power to make a declaration of profits should they think fit once every three or five years. Hitherto we have made an annual valuation. We propose that the next actuarial valuation shall be made as at December 31, 1923.

"For the purpose of distributing profits, it is necessary for us to bring the results of Gold and Silver accounts together, and I propose to deal with the figures in Sterling, because it is in Sterling that our returns have to be made to the board of trade, and it is convenient that the resolution I shall propose should give the figures as they will appear in the board of trade returns.

"The net surplus disclosed in the valuation is £49,175,310. Of this sum we have transferred £28,157,365 t the investment reserve fund, which represents the total of the figures so appearing in the revenue account, the Tael being converted to Sterling at Tls. 1 equals 4s., being the approximate rate ruling on December 31, last year.

"We propose that the balance remaining after making this transfer to the investment reserve fund, should be dealt with as follows:

To pay a bonus of 1 percent on sums assured on policies maturing July 1, 1921, to December 31, 1921, absorbing £669,029.

Dividend to shareholders for 1920, being 10 percent of this figure, to be carried to shareholders reserve fund —£66,903.

That we should provide for bonuses on policies maturing in the years 1922 up to June, 1924 as follows:

Policies maturing 1922—£2,642.

Policies maturing 1923—£3,490.

Policies maturing first half 1924—£1,918.

and that we should provide for dividends to shareholders up to June, 1924 in respect of the years 1922, 1923 and to June, 1924—£805.

and carry forward the balance of £11,427,013.

SECURITIES PRICES BETTER

"The customary valuation in respect of the investments of the company has been made by your directors as at December 31, 1920, and I have already read to you the certificate signed by the directors that the assets set forth in the balance sheet are in the aggregate fully of the value stated less the investment reserve fund taken into account. The depreciation in securities which took place towards the end of last year was very heavy, but the reserves made are ample for the purpose and I am very glad to inform you that there has been a considerable improvement in the market price of our investments since December 31 last.

"The bonuses we have provided for are at the rate of 1 percent per annum on the sum assured, that is to say, that bonuses to be paid on policies maturing from July 1 to December 31 this year will be 1 percent on the sum assured, those maturing next year 2 percent on the sum assured, and those maturing in 1923 2 percent on the sum assured. The provision for bonuses on policies maturing the first half of 1924 is made because it is impossible that the actuarial valuation can be completed in time to prepare bonus notices in respect of policies maturing during the first part of the year. It is a very great pleasure to me to be able to make this declaration, that we are again paying bonuses under our policies.

"I must say a few words regarding the work of the staff during the last year. The work has been very heavy, particularly in that part of last year when the agreement with the Shanghai Life first came into operation. Much additional work has been placed on the shoulders of the staff, both in the agencies and in the head office, and I take this opportunity of expressing to the staff the directors' appreciation of their efforts, and I would ask the managers to see that my remarks, which have the entire approval of my colleagues on the board, are conveyed to our representatives in the agencies.

"On behalf of the directors I want to express our very sincere appreciation of the excellent work done by Mr. Neill. The negotiations for the acquisition of the Shanghai Life Insurance Company, Ltd., were handled by him in a very able manner, the subsequent transfer of this company's staff to the China Mutual Life Insurance Company, Ltd., not only entailed a great deal of additional work on Mr. Neill, but called for a good deal of tact and it speaks volumes for his ability that this transfer of staff in all places has been effected with a minimum of friction. Mr. Neill is leaving immediately on a well-earned and well-deserved holiday, and I am sure you will all join me in wishing him a very pleasant and restful time at Home."

A GUIDE TO PREACHERS.

Every Christian Should Read

"The Christian Preacher"

By Prof. A. E. GARVIE, D.D.

This book has been written for the minister desiring to be helped to make the best of his calling as a preacher. The problems Dr. Garvie deals with are just the questions he had to face and answer for himself when he was the minister of a church. Later, in training men for preaching, he further discovered how needful such simple, practical counsels are, especially for men at the beginning of their ministry.

It is divided into three parts: The History of Preaching; The Credentials, Qualifications, and Functions of the Preacher; and most important of all, The Preparation and the Production of the Sermon. This part will be indispensable to every preacher. It deals with the Character of the Sermon, The Choice of Subjects and Texts, The Contents of the Sermon, The Arrangement of the Sermon, The Composition of the Sermon, and The Delivery of the Sermon.

This book will not only be read from cover to cover by preachers, but will be constantly consulted and re-read. No preacher can afford to be without it.

Gaston, Williams, Wigmore Sued By Say Yuen Hong

Action In U.S. Court Over Indigo Dye Shipments Seeks Recovery Of Tls. 211,377

Suit for the recovery of an aggregate of Taels 211,377 was filed yesterday in the United States Court for China by the Say Yuen Hong against the Shanghai branch of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore and against the New York Company of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore. The plaintiff is represented in the action by the firm of Rodger and Haskell.

Four causes of action are set forth in the lengthy petition in the case. It is explained that the New York company of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore has a contract with the Dow Chemical Company of Midlands, Mich. for the exclusive rights to sell Dow's indigo in the Far East and that the Shanghai branch of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore acts as agent for the New York company.

AGENCY AGREEMENT

It is alleged that on April 19, 1920 the Say Yuen Hong entered into an agency agreement with the Shanghai branch of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore under which the Chinese concern was granted the exclusive agency in Shanghai for the sale of Dow's indigo. On May 17, 1920 the plaintiff says that it opened a credit of Gold $180,000 with the Netherlands Trading Company in favor of the New York company of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore to cover shipments of indigo.

As its first cause of action the plaintiff asserts that three shipments of indigo amounting to 417 kegs for which no contracts had been made were sent to Shanghai and for these drafts were drawn against the gold credit that had been arranged, compelling the plaintiff to pay the sums of Gold $29,825 and Gold $16,803 equalling with interest the sum of Taels 79,266.94. The plaintiff asserts that after it had been obliged to take the shipments it advertised the indigo for sale and accepted the best offer made, which was Taels 17,760.

The first claim is for Taels 61,506.94, the difference between the amount said to have been realised from the sale of the indigo and the amounts paid out for it.

SECOND CAUSE

In setting forth the second cause of action the petition states that under the agency agreement contracts were made for nine monthly shipments of indigo and that after the arrival of the first eight of these, surveys of the shipments made after arrival here revealed that they were short weight 8.15 percent. As the cost of 1,800 kegs shipped amounted to Taels 288,290 it is alleged that the short weight represents a loss of Taels 23,543. A further loss of Taels 1,153 is claimed as it alleged that it was occasioned in the same way when it was found that a shipment of two tons, ordered as an additional shipment, also was short in weight 8.15 percent.

In the third cause for action a claim for Taels 61,120 is made on the ground that losses represented by this sum were incurred because shipments of indigo ordered were not delivered at times specified by contracts.

As the fourth cause of action it is alleged that the Say Yuen Hong entered into the agency agreement after it had passed upon samples of indigo that had been submitted and it says it executed the agency agreement, arranged the gold credit and proceeded with the business on the understanding that the product shipped would be exactly like the samples submitted. It is alleged that shipments made were of inferior quality to the samples and that protests made in this connection brought no results. By reason of losses the Say Yuen Hong alleges it suffered in disposing of these alleged inferior quality shipments it claims the sum of Taels 148,717.77.

B.W.A. Literary Department

In order to give members of the British Women's Association the privilege of meeting Miss E. E. Power, member of the Girton College faculty and the first woman student to be awarded the Albert Kahn Travelling Fellowship, the Literary Section held an "At Home" yesterday afternoon at the Association's headquarters, 18 the Bund.

Following an informal reception, Miss Power addressed the guests on "The Political Situation in India," as observed by her during a three months' visit. Though her stay in India was short, Miss Power was offered unusual facilities to study conditions both from the British and native standpoints.

Despite the furor created by the Punjab affair and the unrest arising from the Caliphate Movement, Miss Power believes that the Indian situation is decidedly hopeful. The extremists are naturally the most conspicuous group, but they are by no means the most influential, native legislative bodies being composed almost entirely of moderates who hope to realise a larger measure of self-government through constitutional means, without separation from the British Empire. The increased interest in education, the growth of a stable commercial and professional class, the large number who have gained political experience through government service, and the manner in which educated Indians are measuring up to their new responsibilities in the legislative councils point hopefully toward the realisation of a competent government under leadership that will be largely native.

Within the past year legislative councils chosen by popular vote and entrusted with nearly complete control in matters pertaining to education, sanitation, and agriculture have been organised almost throughout India. The right of voting budgets and administering public funds in several departments has given the Indians a new degree of power and responsibility.

In spite of the handicaps offered by racial and lingual differences, the caste system, and other factors that stand in the way of co-operation, Miss Power stated that the hope of welding India together as a nation able to care for itself as does Canada or Australia is by no means hopelessly remote.

At the conclusion of the talk, the audience registered its interest by asking numerous questions and afterwards expressed appreciation by a vote of thanks to Miss Power.

Chinese Merchants At Hankow Protest Peking Tax Plans

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, May 16.—The income tax, the stamp duty and the newly issued industrial loan bonds are causing no end of protest among Chinese merchants in this center. The Chinese Chambers of Commerce of Hankow and Wuchang have sent repeated appeals to the Peking government asking for repeal of the above taxes, but without avail.

The official in charge of the Stamp Duty Office of the provincial government at Wuchang, recently sent inspectors accompanied by policemen, to the various streets of Wuchang to examine the books and commercial documents of Chinese shops. For those who avoided using stamps, fines from $3 to $50 were imposed, and this caused some business men to approach the Wuchang Chamber of Commerce for protection against taxation by force.

The chairman of the Chamber is afraid of displeasing officials and refused to deal with the question. Later some guilds decided to walk out on strike, and circulars advising shops to close for strike were scattered over the city. The strike was averted, however, by appeasing measures of the authorities.

The Hankow Chamber is now taking a very firm stand in opposing the industrial loan bonds. In the protest sent to the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce, it was stated that in view of general business depression and the fact that the Hankow Chamber had to sell $300,000 provincial loan bonds, they were absolutely unable to be burdened with other duty.

I. S. S.
During the life of your bond you participate in 168 drawings. By the law of averages you should draw at least 16 times and at least say $200. Therefore, if you draw no more than $12 at any of the drawings, you get back from the I. S. S. $2,200, plus profits, for the $2,000 you have paid to the Society. Can you think of any other investment so attractive as this where, without loss of capital, you participate in premium drawings with a certainty of a return of more than your investment? It is surely a case of "Heads I win, tails you lose."

An Announcement Of A Rich Collection Of Curios For Sale

A rich collection of curios is open for exhibition in my residence. It contains more than two hundred articles, of which the most antique Bronzes are ascertained to range from Shang and Chow Dynasties to that of the Two Hans, and the porcelains from Peh Soong to the beginning of the Tsin Dynasty. They are all well preserved pieces, real and fine. Regarding the genuineness, it has been verfied either by authentic ancient books or by inscriptions as well as initials thereon. None of them is questionable as to its age, designs, markings, etc.

In addition to the Bronzes and Porcelains, there are also wide varieties of valuable Carvings in wood, bamboo, and precious stones, also natural Fossils, Inter-Stones, Tanshi Stones, and Chrysanthemum Stones, etc. Most of these articles are magificent masterpieces of ancient fine art as identified in themselves, and already encased in beautiful artistic casing so as to facilitate transportation at any time.

Due to the successive disturbances in the province, and the recent irregular financial conditions in general, the proprietors of this collection are willing to offer their highly esteemed treasure for cash. Now I take the liberty to introduce the same collection to any Chinese or foreign connoisseur who is prepared to take same over at a favorable price.

Those interested in the matter of inspection are requested to apply to Chen Wan Shian Tan, No. 4 Shu Day Tze Kow, Changsha, Hunan, by notifying me in advance, so that I will have the honor of welcoming their esteemed visits at a specified time.

Catalogued for Sale: 1,899,680 lbs. (about 848 tons).

Offered: 1,607,011 lbs. (about 717 tons).

Sold: 827,508 lbs. (about 369 tons).

Since our last report a considerable decline has taken place in the London market owing to heavy Estate selling and further forced liquidations. The British Government's definite announcement that no restriction by legislation will be introduced has probably also had its effect on the market.

At the local auctions today prices all round suffered a setback in sympathy with London, although not to the same extent. The demand throughout was moderate, only about half the quantity offered being sold.

Awarded Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet sold up to 29½ cents which is 1 cent down, one lot fetching 30 cents.

Ribbed Smoked Sheet equal to Singapore standard met with a fair competition.

Off Quality Sheet attracted a little interest; inferior grades, however, were difficult of sale.

Awarded Standard First Latex declined about 2 cents; only a few lots were catalogued.

Crepe equal to Singapore standard found ready buyers.

Off Color Latex met with a fair demand at reduced prices.

Fine Brown and lower grades of Crepe were well in demand.

The sales this week were all completed in one day, and the tone of the market at the close was easy.

N.B.—The above prices for Standard Quality Sheet and Crepe are only paid for small lots at the auctions, whereas bigger quantities in the outside market generally fetch from 1 cent to 1½ above these figures.

Rubber Prices

Messrs. R. N. Truman and Company have received the following telegram from their Singapore Agents in connection with the weekly auctions held at Singapore on Wednesday, May 18:

No. 1 Smoked Sheet $0.29½ per pound equivalent to 8¼ d. ex warehouse Singapore.

No. 1 Crepe $0.32½ per pound equivalent to 9¼ d. ex warehouse Singapore.

Market quiet. Offered 499 tons; sold 312 tons.

Exchange Fluctuations
Asia Banking Corporation

Spot bar silver was down 1/4d. and forward 3/8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 58¾ cents and the London-New York cross rate improved to 400¾. The official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday with the exception of the Franc rate which was dropped to 745 and the Rupee rate which was raised to 252¼. The market throughout the day was a shade steadier. Business at the opening was done in Sterling at 3/2½ and in Gold dollars at 64¾. Later in the day business in Sterling was done as high as 3/2⅞ and in Gold dollars at 65¼.

The market closed a shade easier with sellers of Sterling at no better than 3/2¾ and of Gold dollars at 65. There was again a heavy demand for Francs and Marks, a good business being done in Francs at between 710 and 720 per Tls. 100.

While our market here was steadier than yesterday there are yet no signs of strength in the silver market. While there does not seem to be any particular amount of silver pressing on the market at present, there are on the other hand no keen buyers. It is, therefore, quite likely that the price will sag still further.

No advices have been received from London today and the latest information from New York is that dated May 18. This stated that there were sellers but no buyers at the official quotation.

Kota Bahroe Holds Statutory Meeting

The statutory meeting of the Kota Bahroe Rubber Estates (1921, Ltd., was held at the office of their secretaries, Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons, yesterday. Major T. C. Trueman presided and was supported by Messrs. N. G. Maitland and A. W. Burkill, directors and others.

The number of shares represented at the meeting was 55,976. The secretary having read the notice calling the meeting, the chairman said:

"This meeting is called in order to comply with the Companies ordinances and is of a purely formal nature. The statutory report has been in your hands for some time and the particulars of share holdings are on the table here and are open to the inspection of any shareholder who may wish to look at them.

"The directors propose that the company's financial year shall terminate on the same date as that of the old company, viz. June 30, the first accounts published will therefore cover only the period from the date of liquidation to June 30, 1921.

"During the present depression in the rubber market the policy of your directors is to institute every possible economy in the working of your properties consistent with their efficient maintenance. As production was barely remunerative the directors decided to stop all tapping and it was discontinued on all the companies estates from the end of January. The resultant resting of the trees will be of the utmost benefit to the trees especially to those on the older planted areas. The tapping force has been diverted to other works and should tapping again become remunerative we are in a position to resume production.

"A moderate planting program is being carried out on Kota Bahroe and Canning Estate.

"If any shareholder has any questions to ask regarding any matter relating to the formation of the company or arising out of the statutory report I shall be pleased to answer them."

No questions being asked, the meeting was adjourned.

Cotton

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their cotton market report of today:

China Cotton:—Our market since the issue of our last circular continued with very slight fluctuations on practically the same level of prices as prevailed in the preceding period, holders still maintaining a firm attitude notwithstanding the fact of there being very little demand on the part of Spinners in general who apparently have decided to await completion of deliveries on old contracts before making fresh commitments and who anticipate availing themselves of any declines that may evolve in the interim.

However, a fairly large volume of business on a purely speculative basis may be said to have been consummated during the week under review in the local Cotton Exchanges at rates which to a certain extent have infused a bullish sentiment in the trade and which feeling is further stimulated by the dropping tendency in Silver exchange bringing about a disparity in prices of imported cottons favorable to the local staple.

Taking, therefore, a general survey of the situation the indications are that while prices may not reach as high as was experienced during the 1917-1918 season the present ruling rates may be maintained with very little variation until such time as a better insight is obtainable as to the progress of the new season crop. Tone of the Market, firm.

Hongkong Share Market

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor of Hongkong write as follows in their weekly share report dated Hongkong, May 13.

Defends High Heel For Women's Shoes

British Doctor Says Skirts Hamper Hips When They Are Walking

London, April 9.—Women need high heels because they are not able to move their hips as freely as men, according to Dr. W. H. Trethowan, speaking before the Institute of Hygiene. "Women," he said, "being hampered by skirts, cannot get such freedom of movement at the hips as men are able to do, and for this reason women need the more efficient support afforded by heels. The action of the foot in men is not nearly as marked as in women, as men propel themselves with the hip movement and long strides, while women walk more with their feet.

"It is impossible to find a civilised adult with a perfect foot, one of the ideal shape which will do the work properly and gracefully. The war showed us that we are a nation with misshaped feet. The ideal boot heel in general use is the Cuban. The Louis heel is bad on account of its curved mechanical shape and the insufficient support it gives.

"Children with normal feet do not require much of a heel. Women, however, favor high heels and, while no doubt some wear them purely for reasons of attractiveness, it is certain that the majority adopt them in response to the relief afforded to the ligaments of the foot. Most ready made shoes fail miserably in the support afforded the under border of the feet, and this, together with waists that are thin and unyielding and bulge downward after two or three weeks use, affords insufficient support and is largely responsible for the breaking down of the foot."

Dr. Trethowan said that in selecting shoes the important points to be borne in mind are the length and breadth of the soles, the roominess of the toe portion and the pointing inward of the toe, or the selection of a straight inner border.

The Strain In Japanese---U. S. Relations

An Inquiry Looking To An Adjustment—I. Causes.

FOLLOWING is a translation of the first of a series of articles which Count Michimasa Soyeshima is contributing to the Gaiko Jiho (Diplomatic Review) on Japanese-American relations. Count Soyeshima, son of the well known Foreign Minister of early Meiji, is a leading Japanese Liberal peer. He understands the foreign point of view, and he has frequently written, both in his own language and in English says The Japanese Advertiser, to advocate liberal policies for Japan, especially in China where he holds that the presentation of the 21 Demands was a cardinal blunder. In the series of articles of which the following is the first he proposes to discuss the difficulties which have arisen in late years between Japan and America. He ascribes the present strained feeling partly to American expansion in the Pacific and partly to Japan's unenlightened policy in China and Siberia. The Californian question he dismisses as a local difficulty which can never bring about war, and he says the potential cause of war must be sought in questions affecting the continent of Asia. The avowed purpose of the writer is to throw such light on the situation as will lead to an adjustment.—Japan Advertiser.

BY COUNT MICHIMASA SOYESHIMA

Nothing has had so much significance for other nations, or has involved more regrettable consequences than the drastic changes which the foreign policy of the United States has undergone during the past quarter of a century. The United States, with her celebrated pacifism and her inviolable Monroe doctrine, has become, by her possession of the Philippines, one of the great Powers in Asia. Soon after her occupation of the South Sea islands, the government in Hawaii refused admission to Japanese immigrants. We sent a protest to the Hawaiian authorities, and followed it by the dispatch of a war-ship. The matter was settled by the intervention of the President of the United States after six months, during which time the warship stayed in Hawaii, causing Japan a considerable expenditure. It was at that time that the United States annexed the Hawaiian islands obviously for the purpose of providing her navy in the Pacific with footholds in the Orient. The failure of Japanese diplomacy at that time secured us the indemnity of Y.150,000 and the shells on the bottom of the cruiser Naniwa, while the Americans rejoiced over the occupation of the islands. An outcry at that time for an extensive naval program was fanned by the enthusiastic propaganda of the shipbuilders and the threat of a Japanese-American war fomented by yellow papers and Captain Hobson. The American apprehension of Japan reached a climax after the Russian War, and the relations between the two countries were aggravated when the notorious question of the Japanese schoolboys in California provoked an unscrupulous statement from an influential Japanese politician, threatening America with war, and duly furnishing capital to the Hearst Press. The result was the tour of Mr. Taft and the cruise of the American fleet round the world. At this critical time in Japanese-American relations, the prestige of the militarist parties in Japan was so strong that other nations saw in Japan the successor of Russian Militarism. They said that Japan had twice waged wars with other countries and had incorporated Korea; it was necessary to prevent further expansion of Japan. Thus the American navy became third among the naval Powers of the world.

JAPAN AND THE WORLD WAR

"The relations of Japan and the United States during 1914 were embittered by mutual misunderstandings and suspicion, aggravated by a serious failure of Japanese diplomacy at the outbreak of the world war. When Japanese participation in the world war was announced, it was rumored that the United States lodged a protest against the measure taken by the Japanese Government with regard to the war. When the final decision was reached to declare war with Germany, intellectual circles of Japan were struck dumb at the phraseology of the ultimatum, for it was drafted in the same tone as the protest of Germany, France and Russia at the close of Sino-Japanese war which compelled Japan to surrender Liaotung. The reason for the Japanese participation in the world war might have been found in the provisions of the Anglo-Japanese alliance; it is perhaps natural that the Americans charged Japan with insatiable territorial ambition.

GERMANY AND U.S. ANNOYED

"The fact was that both America and Germany were annoyed at the Japanese participation on the world war. The attitude of Japan was regarded in the United States as that of a thief during a fire, while Germany took it for a base act contradictory to Bushido. Then the situation in Europe became increasingly unfavorable to the Allies, who took every available means to ensure victory. In the meanwhile Japan dispatched a small force of cruisers and destroyers to the South Pacific and the Mediterranean and lavishly distributed war rewards to her officers, both civil and military, to the scandal of world opinion. Presentation of the notorious 21 Demands in those days was one of the most serious failures of Japanese diplomatists and impressed other nations with an idea that Japan is an unreliable country prosecuting an aggressive policy. It was the notorious diplomatic negotiation between Japan and China that decided the determined policy of the United States to put an end to the aggressive expansion of Japan, even at the price of blood.

THE 21 DEMANDS

"Japan had been popular as a nation which never broke her promise. But the fifth group of the Japanese demands to China nullified this long-established confidence in Japan. A whole train of international misunderstandings was ushered in by this act to the damage of Sino-Japanese friendship. It is with regret that I recognise that the Foreign Minister who launched such an unscrupulous measure is still dealing with diplomacy. Events other than the 21 Demands which contributed to provoke international misunderstandings were the assistance extended to the Tuan party in China and the dispatch of formidable forces to Siberia in disregard of the agreement made with America.

AMERICA'S NAVAL PROGRAM

"The preparedness campaign in the United States, although it was too farfetched during the war, was justified as long as the war lasted. But after the Peace Treaty was concluded and the League of Nations organised, any extension of armaments in any country became unnecessary. Then what is the justification for the claim to be the first-rate naval Power made by Mr. Daniels and other leading Americans? Mr. Daniels has declared that the construction of the most powerful navy by the United States does not affect the supremacy of the British navy, and again he said that America as the promoter of the League of Nations is responsible for the maintenance of peace of the world. She therefore deems it her duty to construct the most powerful navy in the world to guarantee the freedom of the seas in the Atlantic and to watch the aggressive expansion of Japan in the Pacific.

Great Britain, much tried by experience as she is, was not affected by the declaration of the United States. Her magnanimity, backed by her confidence in her own power and self-reliance, is indeed an object of our admiration. But that is not the case with Japan. The reason is that there are circumstances in the relations of Japan and the United States which justify the fear and apprehension harbored by a considerable number of people in both countries regarding a future war between the two countries.

CALIFORNIA A LOCAL QUEST

"As far as I am concerned, I cannot believe that the Californian question would constitute a cause of future animosity between Japan and America. It is merely a local question, and especially when one thinks that anti-Japanese sentiment in California is based on the merits of Japanese character, as is attested by the returns of the investigation Society of the Conditions of Japanese Emigrants in America organised by Americans, the fear is as baseless as their persecution of Japanese residents in the state is irrational. It is absurd to enter on a war with the Americans on account of a merely local question. Some may say that the Californian question is really a manifestation of American Imperialism against the fundamental policy of Japan, but I am of opinion that the question is internal. The political campaign in the United States is one of the causes of the Californian question, to which may be added economic and labor questions. At any rate, it would never be advisable to make war on account of a question which does not affect the security of the country.

NO WISH TO ANNEX CHINA

"Although there is no fear of war between Japan and the United States on account of California, the future of the Chinese situation is difficult to forecast. If the United States with her enormous wealth and astounding power should oppress Japan, it would be impossible for Japan to maintain peace despite all her efforts to do so, for the security of Japan would be endangered in that case. It was for the sake of self-defense that we fought with China during 1895-96 and again in 1904 with Russia when all the efforts to arrive at an amicable solution by the late Prince Katsura and Marquis Komura had failed. We can say with clear conscience that Japan has never taken any action which is blamable in international relationship except in the cases of the 21 Demands and the Siberian expedition of the Terauchi Ministry. The diplomacy of the Japanese Government since the opening of the country has been passive and inert. American residents in China are fostering uncompromising hostility against Japan on the assumption that the Japanese incorporation of Korea is an unpardonable crime, but they all misunderstand us.

The cause of a Japan-American war may be found in the continent of Asia, but it cannot be found in the Japanese ambition to annex China. It is obvious that Japan cannot do such a thing. The motive power which would explode into Japanese-American hostilities, if we were to search for it, may be found in the question affecting Korea, Shantung and Siberia.

TRAMWAY EVILS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: The armed robbery evil is daily growing, so is the tramcar evil. The latter should demand as much attention as the former as in both cases human lives are involved. Take the case of Circle 6, The Tramway Co. cannot be ignorant of the overcrowding in this line during office-going and lunch hours. During these hours how often one sees the motor-men hampered in the performance of their duty by passengers who invade their platforms through inability to find even standing room inside. This is a menace to public safety. Added to this is the tearing away of cars at halting places while passengers are still in the act of mounting and dismounting.

I aver that the Tramcar Co. cannot be ignorant of these evils but it has taken no step whatsoever to remedy them. When its pockets are touched it is energetic and prompt of action. For example in the matter of base copper coinage. It came out quick enough with a notice that no brass coins would be accepted.

Is the Tramway Co. subject to no control at all? If so, then why is overcrowding allowed to go unchecked? And how is it when cars spurt away while passengers are still clinging to the hand-rails the police on the scene do nothing? If the police are instructed to stop overcrowded and runaway cars it will go a long way towards minimising the tramcar evil. The way The Tramway Co. is allowed to carry on is a shame to the governing body of this model settlement and a menace to public safety. Yours, etc.,

"ARMED INTO PEACE."

Exodus of rowing men to Henli today.

Given fine weather, a capital week end should be spent where the river becomes clean enough to swim in and broad enough to row, sampan, steam or motor in.

The following little article from "Answers" should prove interesting at this time:

It is remarkable how many of the rowing Blues of Oxford and Cambridge have distinguished themselves in after years in various kinds of work.

There is the Right Hon. Reginald McKenna, now a great leader of finance in the City, and an authority on all questions of international and national money matters. But to the wider public no doubt Mr. McKenna is still better known as a Liberal leader of note in bygone days, as a public speaker far above the ordinary, and an organiser not easily beaten in Party affairs.

Mr. McKenna rowed in the winning Cambridge eight of 1887, and was always a great oarsman whilst at the 'Varsity; indeed, for some years afterwards he kept up his rowing whenever possible.

That greatest of all-round sportsmen today, Lord Desborough, is equally at home in Parliament, Thames Conservancy work, mountaineering, shooting, rowing, skating, and a host of other roles. He was in the Oxford eight both in 1877 and 1878; was afterwards president of the University Boating Club; won the Amateur Punting Championship; stroked an eight across the Channel to France in a rowing-boat, and twice swam across Niagara!

The Bar is represented amongst old rowing Blues today by Mr. E. G. Hemmerde, K.C., who was at University College, Oxford, and won several famous rowing contests, both here and at Henley, about the commencement of the present century. The learned K.C. has also had a Parliamentary career of much eminence, as well as a notable and most successful experience of the Bar.

Almost at the same time as Mr. Hemmerde was making for himself a prominent position in the rowing world, there was at Oxford one Alfred Noyes, who, hailing from Exeter College, did duty in the boat against Cambridge on behalf of the Dark Blues. Since that time—when he had already won a certain local fame as a poet—Alfred Noyes has made great headway in literature. He is now regarded as one of the sweetest singers of England—the man on whom has fallen the mantle of Tennyson and Swinburne.

A future viceroy of India, in the person of Lord Ampthill, rowed in the Oxford crew of 1889-91. Before going up to Oxford he was famous as an oarsman of surpassing merit. He had already been captain of the boats at Eton. Later on he became president of the University Boating Club, one of the highest honors which can fall to the lot of any Old Blue.

Lord Ampthill made a big success of his parliamentary and national work. He held several posts in various Cabinets, and these finally culminated in the splendid role of viceroy of our great Indian Empire—surely as magnificent a position as any Varsity rowing Blue has ever yet attained!

The Hon. Rupert Guinness, now Viscount Elveden, is best known, perhaps, for his great interest in boys and young men, and the training-farm he keeps for them near Woking; also for his eagerness to do everything possible to help them when taking up land-work for a career at home or abroad. His many journeys to Canada, his arrangements to place likely lads out there, and the financial and other help he has given to young emigrants is beyond all praise.

Rupert Guinness is one of the Cambridge rowers who have won renown in many ways on the river. He rowed in the Eton eight which won the Lados Plate at Henley, 1893; he won the Diamond Sculls there in 1895; and again, with the Wingfield Sculls in addition, in 1896. He has done excellent work for years as a Member of Parliament, as one of the L.C.C., and as a noted educationalist there.

Whilst speaking about rowing Blues, too, it may be of interest to note that the famous novelist who created "Captain Kettle," Mr. C. J. Cutcliffe Hyne, himself only just missed being in the Light Blue crew whilst he was at Clare College. He was one of the winning Trial Eight in 1887, and at that time seemed almost sure of his "Blue." But, as so often happens, there had to be made seats in the boat for one or two of the best oarsmen who were in the losing Trial Eight, and Mr. Hyne's place was one of those thus taken.

It was hard luck on a fine, vigorous oarsman to be thus "so near and yet so far" from getting the coveted ribbon!

The Guide To Hell

BY THE SPECTATOR

The Rev. Mr. Voliva, in charge of the church founded by Brother Dowie at Zion City, Ill., recently flourished forth in the contemporary press as announcing a Guide to Hell.

The fashion is old. From time immemorial peeved prophets have amazed the commons and furnished relief to their own feelings by having visions of hell, peopled mostly by those enemies they were unable to best in this vale of tears. They took it out on them in the next life.

Mr. Voliva follows the conventional plan of making each sinner stew in the juice of his own particular sin, and as the Zion brethren are peculiarly ferocious against those who sin by using tobacco, their leader and guide took especial glee in noting that smokers were to be everlastingly smothered in tobacco fumes and chewers drowned in roaring oceans of tobacco extract. And so on.

Far be it from us to dispute one who speaks from the sacred desk. But while we have no desire to cross swords with the theologians, we may be permitted to make a few observations upon the little spots on hell we see in this life and upon the causes thereof.

For there are certain things and thoughts that bring hell wherever they appear.

For instance.

One of the commonest of hell-makers is Envy. Envy is feeling miserable at another's success or happiness.

It may be called the last and deadliest of sins, for against it is levelled the Tenth Commandment, "Thou shalt not covet!"

Wherever you find this sentiment you find a spot of utter wretchedness. It is entirely senseless, and purely diabolical.

For in the nature of human society it must always be that some are fairer, stronger, luckier and more favored than others.

All the trees in the forest cannot be the tallest, and any person that cannot be happy so long as he sees another excel him in any way is most certainly marked for trouble as long as he lives.

Another hell-maker is the Bad Habit.

Probably the most pitiful portion of the human race consists of those who in one way or another have lost their willpower before some tyrannous desire.

Whoever would describe the agonies of the sex pervert must have a pen more powerful than Dante's and an imagination that cannot be staggered by the most horrible facts of the tragedy souls.

None of the pictures painted by orators or writers of the humiliation and distress of the victim of alcohol is satisfactory—not because they are too horrible, but because they are not lurid enough. The dipsomaniac, if he have any of the finer sensibilities left, dies a thousand deaths. He sees the torments not only of himself, but of all who touch his life in love or interest.

So it is with those wretched creatures who become victims of other drugs, opium, cocaine, heroin, chloral and the like. No artificial images of tortures upon

The very life of Egypt depends on its irrigation, and, ancient as this irrigation is, it was never practised on a really scientific system till after the British occupation.

The Nile possesses two properties that impart to it a value quite unique among rivers.

First, the season of its rise and fall is nearly constant, and the height attained by its waters during highest flood and at lowest Nile vary to only a small extent.

Second, the remarkable richness of the alluvium brought down the river year after year during the flood.

The Shanghai Life Insurance Co., Ltd.

At the sixteenth annual meeting of the Shanghai Life Insurance Company, Ltd., held at its offices at 10 Canton Road yesterday, Mr. A. W. Burkill, chairman of the board of directors presided, with Directors A. T. Byrne and R. G. Macdonald, Mr. H. R. Stuart, actuary; and managers S. B. Neill and J. K. Tweed in attendance. Shares numbering 20,895 were present.

The chairman's speech follows:

"Gentlemen: Dealing with the sixteenth annual report of the company and the accounts for the year ending December 31, 1920, I will, with your consent, take them as read. You will have noticed that the accounts are presented in a different form from that previously adopted. The accounts for this year show the income and expenditure, liabilities and assets relating to the business in Gold currencies separately from the corresponding figures relating to the business in Silver currencies.

PROBLEMS IN EXCHANGE

"Formerly the figures relating to the business in Gold currencies were converted into Taels at exchange at Taels one equals 2s. 8d., and the results combined with the figures relating to the business in Silver currencies. It has been thought advisable for several reasons to make this change. During last year, moreover, we effected the purchase of sufficient Gold to cover the liabilities in Gold which had previously been covered by investments in Silver.

"We feel sure you will approve of the step which has been taken, and which has the effect of freeing the company from any danger due to the fluctuation in the price of Silver. This purchase having been effected in the latter half of last year, renders it difficult to make any useful comparison of the figures for the year 1920 with the figures for the previous years, because the comparative figures would vary so considerably according as we took a true rate of exchange, or the nominal rate of 2s. 8d. to the Tael, which was used for book purposes for the conversion in the accounts in previous years and in last year's accounts. I shall not, therefore, attempt any detailed comparison, but am very glad to inform you that the premium income and interest income have shown satisfactory increases.

"It has been considered advisable to show separately the business in rouble currency. Policies in force in Roubles are negligible, however, the same assured thereunder amounting in all to only Rbls. 28,000.

"During the year new policies were issued for sums assured amounting to Tls. 455,039.00 and £553,249, the total assurance in force in Silver and Gold respectively being Tls. 4,460,353 and £2,974,848. The total income for the year amounted to over Tls. 526,000 and over £275,000. The total assets are now over two million taels and £780,000.

THE CHINA MUTUAL MERGER

"I now come to the most important event which happened during the year under review, namely the agreement made with the China Mutual Life Insurance Company, an agreement which was signed in July of last year to take effect as from August 1 of last year. This agreement was the final outcome of conversations which had taken place between the officials of the two companies as long ago as the summer of 1919.

"The position was that there were two companies each having a head office in Shanghai, with two separate managements, and each with a separate agency organisation in the same parts of the world, except that the China Mutual Life Insurance Company had Agencies in one or two parts of the East in which we were not represented. It was obviously desirable that some means should be found by which the head office and agency work of these two companies should be carried on by one organisation, with the consequent decrease in the combined over head and agency charges.

"The result of many conferences was the signing of the agreement by which the management of this company was undertaken by the management of the China Mutual Life Insurance Company, in consideration of which the latter company receives certain payments. The two companies will continue their separate existence, in that they will have distinct boards of directors, different auditors, and will publish separate accounts, the assets being kept entirely distinct. The same officials, however, will administer the affairs of both companies, and the two companies will occupy the same offices, the head office of this company being hereafter in the building in which we are holding this meeting, namely, 10 Canton Road.

"Everyone will appreciate, I think, the necessity for the negotiations regarding an agreement of this kind being kept secret until they are completed, because rumors that such negotiations were taking place would undoubtedly have been used to the prejudice of one or other of the companies. Consequently, the signing of the agreement necessarily found both companies with a complete organisation and with a complete system of offices in Shanghai, and in the agencies, and it naturally took some tine before the necessary changes in staff and removal of offices could be completed by which only the desired reduction in expenses could be effected. Consequently, the accounts before you do not show the effects of the agreement.

"We believe, however, that the results for the present year will fully demonstrate to you the advantages of the arrangements which have been made. We are glad to inform you that the necessary changes have now been made. The staffs of both companies are now housed in the same offices, both in Shanghai and in all the Agencies, one agency manager and or resident secretary representing both companies in each agency.

CHANGES IN OFFICIALS

"Mr. Israel, formerly the Secretary of this Company, resigned that position but retains his seat on the Board. Mr. Moodie, formerly the Actuary of the Company, has become the assistant secretary of the two companies, and, you will be glad to hear that a number of our representatives in the agencies have received good appointments on the staff of both companies.

"Your directors are satisfied that the making of the agreement was a sound move, and that the effect will be beneficial both to policyholders and to shareholders.

"Certain changes in the board have taken place during the year, and your directors at present are Messrs. E. T. Byrne, A. J. Israel, R. Macgregor, R. G. MacDonald, and myself.

"As three of the directors were appointed during the year, which appointments require confirmation this afternoon, and Mr. Byrne retires and is offering himself for re-election, four out of five of your directors will retain their seats only if re-election this afternoon, and if we are re-elected, we shall take your votes as a mark of approval of the arrangements made during the year.

ACTUARIAL VALUATION

"I have now to refer to the actuarial valuation made as at December 31, 1920. The method of valuation previously adopted, and the method of bonus distribution previously adopted were very carefully considered by your board. We determined that it was necessary to increase the stringency of the basis of valuation. This has been done at the cost of £91,000, a great part of which, however, was provided by the profits made by the purchase of gold to cover the gold liabilities at prices very considerably over the 2s. 8d. at which the Taels were converted in previous years.

"We consider the basis of valuation to be now a thoroughly sound one. Hitherto it has been the practice to make special addition out of the current profits to the amount payable on policies actually maturing for bonus in the year in which the distribution was made, but hereafter we propose that the profits made in any year shall be distributed amongst the policyholders who have contributed to those profits, and discontinue the making of the special addition to the amount payable on policies actually maturing for bonus in the year in which the accounts are considered.

"With the increase in the sums assured on policies maturing during the next few years, and considering the results of the valuations to date, it became evident to your directors that this change in the method of distribution was essential if the interests of the holders of policies which mature a number of years hence were to be fully protected. This will entail a reduction in the rate of bonus to be paid on policies maturing during the next few years and commencing with those maturing on July 1, of this year.

"Bonuses on policies maturing during the first part of the year, and pending the completion of the actuarial valuation, have been provided for on the scale in force in previous years. I may say that special consideration was given to the case of policies maturing in the latter part of this year, so that they should not be unduly prejudiced by the increase in the stringency of the valuation.

DISPOSAL OF SURPLUS

"It is proposed to distribute among the shareholders, to be carried to shareholders reserve fund, 10 percent of the amount distributed among policyholders. I shall propose in a few minutes subject to the passing of the accounts, that the surplus be dealt with as follows. Figures are given in pounds sterling so that the resolution shall give the exact figures as they will appear in the board of trade returns, England. The total surplus being £45,868. 0s. 4d., it is proposed that it should be distributed among:

	£ s. d.
Policies maturing up to June 30, 1921 ..	5,498. 16. 6
Policies maturing from July 1, 1921, to December 31, 1921	1,724. 17. 8

French Movies Fight Tax On U.S. Films

Threaten To Close If Discrimination Is Enforced Against Chaplin Et Al

Paris, April 9.—Rather than force exhibitors in France to use French films instead of American pictures starring such favorites as Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and "Fatty" Arbuckle by subjecting the latter to a discriminatory tax, cinema directors and syndicates have decided to close the theaters unless the restrictions are removed.

Already burdened with taxes they insist that they cannot pay for the privilege of using American films. French producers are unable to furnish one-twelfth of the reels required to meet the demand, if the French cinemas are to give full and varied shows.

The Guide To Hell

the other side of the grave can exceed the real tortures they endure in dragging out this miserable existence.

It was a true as well as a sharp thing Elbert Hubbard said, that "we are not punished for our sins but by them."

And, unfortunately, the sufferings from evil are by no means confined to those who commit them. The worst phase is the misery they inflict upon those that fate dooms to love them.

There is vastly more sorrow outside of the penitentiary, among wives, mothers and lovers, than there is among the inmates.

Who can tell the vicarious agonies of mothers? Everyone else can let the abandoned wretch go to his punishment, and turn aside, but her heart can never cease to bleed for him so long as life lasts.

It is not a pleasant subject. Yet a Guide to Hell in this life might not be without its uses.

If only those who are taking the first steps in the primrose paths that lead to the valley of serpents could be made to see, to heed and to stop!

If the Reverend Mr. Voliva, and all other expounders of the Word, had the imagination and the eloquence to depict the actual, living and devouring flames that consume and torture the men and women in this life, it might have better results than to paint in fanciful colors the horrors of a problematic future.
